

What is land use planning?

Land use planning is selecting specific uses for the lands that meet the current and the future needs of the citizens, while also protecting and preserving lands for the environment and for the future. Creating a healthy balance and healthy community.

What do you mean by land use?

Land use is how the land is currently being used or will be used in the future. In your neighbourhood you might have schools, roads, houses, a church and a park.

What are the different land uses?

Environmental — Parks, Trails, Recreation and Play Spaces, Growing Food, Raising Animals for Food, Keeping Things Green

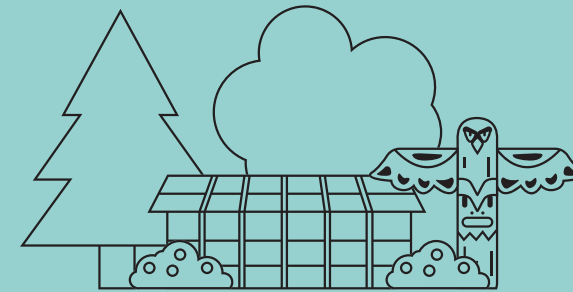

Commerical — Stores, Restaurants, Paint Shops, Creating Jobs, Making Money

Industry — Forestry, Lumber Mills, Gravel Pits, Creating Jobs, Making Money

Institution - Schools, Universities, Government, Courts

Cultural — Tradition, Long Houses, Fishing, Hunting

Residential — Houses, Apartments, Townhouses

We want to hear from our communities and find out what you want for the future of Sq'ewá:lxw Treaty Lands.

Who selected the lands?

Community members from Sq'ewá:lxw-Tít Tribe selected these lands in 2013, and continue to select lands based on their principles of protection, growth, and future needs.

Why were these lands chosen?

These lands were chosen by community members for different reasons, such as: Cultural practice, residential areas, industry (logging), commercial (stores) areas, education and environmental protection.
