Episode 2: Pulse of the People II: Treaty? No Way. One member's perspective.

Host: Theresa Warbus

Guest: Wenona Hall: Associate Professor, Indigenous Studies, University of the Fraser Valley; Skowkale member.

As community members, we can have very different opinions about many things. What if our big difference involves whether we support the treaty process or not. In this episode, Theresa Warbus talks with Wenona Hall, Skowkale member and Associate Professor of Indigenous Studies at the University of the Fraser Valley, about her reasons for not supporting treaty.

“Our rights come from our birthright. Our rights come from our ancestors. Nobody can take that away. And you can't write that out of legislation or write it into legislation. But legislations can certainly acknowledge and affirm that those rights are there.”
